

The Indiana law on preventing soliciting phone calls has worked well for me, it has prevented me from receiving the dozens of phone calls each week that I was. I was near changing my phone # because of the constant bother but now things are much better. If you initiate a federal law that would lower Indiana's standards it would be a very HUGE mistake on your part. If you think it is ok for people to be bothered at home constantly then please publish all your phone #'s so I can call you 15-20 times a week trying to sell you everything from long distance service to septic tank cleaners. Thank you! Tim J. Norris
